Despite the Covid-19 pandemic, a capacity building workshop took place to empower Egyptian youth taking part in a series of workshops to run for 12 months. The workshop was held at the Egyptian Ministry of Environment in their constituencies. The workshop focused on the topic of Maidan in Ukrainian schools. Between August 25 and September 8, 2020, CRISP concluded an interactive online training on Peaceful Conflict Transformation. The training focused on conflict transformation, which is a fundamental aspect of human rights. The training was designed to empower participants to take leading roles in society. Despite the pandemic, the training was held online, with participants from around the world. The training was facilitated by our esteemed partner, Center for Development Services, in Egypt. The training was designed to be accessible to participants from diverse backgrounds and experiences. The training covered a range of topics, including conflict resolution, negotiation, and mediation. The training was delivered using a combination of interactive online sessions and practical exercises. The training was designed to be engaging and interactive, with participants encouraged to share their own experiences and perspectives. The training was a success, with participants stating that they had gained valuable insights and skills that they could apply in their work and personal lives. The training was well-received by participants, who praised the facilitators and the content of the training. The training was a positive step towards empowering Egyptian youth to take leading roles in society.
